VICEROY CHEUNG BETWEEN TWO STOOLS.

The recent risings in Persia and Turkey, and the struggles in India, apparently, are not without their influence upon the think-They can see in these movements portents . They can see in these movements portents of what, at no distant day, they may have to face in Chins, and they do not seem to be willing to face it at present. It would almost appear as if they have the advisibility and the possiblity of esta blishing a Parliament and fear that things will march faster than they intended, and faster than the Government may be able to go. At any rate, it appears that the Government of Peking do not relish the aspirations of the gentry and business people of the Kwangtung, nor their discussions ment this burning question. It is said that the Viceroy has recent . ly received two secret telegrams from the Grand Council at Peking, and that these telegrams give instructions in regard to these questions. They instruct the Vicoroy to take steps to deal with two burning matters. First he is instructed to take steps to prevent the gentry and the business people from getting a share in the local government, and further, he is to prevent the people from cherishing in their hearts the ideal of a National Parliament. Indeed, if the report is reliable, the Vicoroy has been advised to take steps to suppress this growing independence on, the part of the people. When the Vicercy received these messages he was at his wits end to know what to do. So the best course appeared to be to do nothing, and so for the time being he simply laid the telegrams on one olden days with imunity, for the Governmont at Peking have now the means of knowing whether their commands are attended to or not, and so the matter could not be allowed to rest there. The Viceroy has therefore sent a reply to Peking in which he points out the opinion of the people and suggests that if the orders of the secret telegrams are enforced there will be trouble. The Viceroy, in his roply, points out that for long China has been coerced and oppressed, as well as despised by foreign nations. Indeed he says," I have used up all my bamboos, and find it hard to write more." The officials are uninstructed and feeble. We have not cruisers, and we have no cannon, by which to defend ourselves. We have lost prestige and we have lost every advantage. The gentry and people are in terror remembering the dangers and the woes of the past. Now, however, there is springing up in the breasts of the masses a love of country, that is remarkable, which showed itself recently when the waters of the West River were patrolled by a power in defiance of the Treaties. At that time the people roused and came to the assistance of the Government, and greatly assisted in the arrangements come to. 1 is wise, therefore, to take advantage of this growing spirit of patriotism, and attract the people nearer to the Government. If however, these growing aspirations are suppressed, and no attempt is made to goide them, there will be a great dividing of the forces of the officials and the people, and we shall again stand alone." It will be seen from this telegram, that the Viceroy himself has little sympathy with the new orders that have reached him, and, were it possible, would give the gentry and the people some scope for the exercise of their powers. What will be the reply remains to be seen. There have been rulers, who, rather than have any one willing to share their power with thein, have blindly ridden to their own fall, and seemed to prefer this to any humbling of themselves before their inferiors. It remains to be seen if the Chinese Government will elect TO-NIGHT to follow this course. It is certain that many forces have been focusing their influence upon the more intelligent of the Southern Chinese, and it would be folly to ignore this fact. Any one who reads the papers knows well enough that, at this time. all that is passing in the Western countries Is faithfully translated and is placed before the Chinese. The revolutions of the past are not forgotten. Only this morning an article appears in which reference was made to the two revolutions that set up the French and the American Republica respectively. Yesterday the paper referred to what is going on in Turkey. All this can-not be without its profound influence upon the minds of the Chinese. We don't wonder therefore that the Vicercy should hesitate to publish and enforce such orders but do wonder that the Government ahould saue them.

Americans Beginning to Change

It appears that the outlook of the Amerian public on the Olympic Games has now undergone a considerable change. Mere credit is being given to the British officials for their fair-mindedness. A report from Washington says :- In view of the renewed_bitter_complaints_of_unfairness of management at the Olympic Games indulged in by Mr Sullivan, the American

Commissioner to the games, on his return here, it may be as well to say that the indignation of this gentleman, and a certain portion of the Press, is not shared in respectable athletic circles, especially since the arrival of English journals and periodicals has made it possible to study the other side of the question. In the course behaviour of a body of men who, with all their merits, do not adequately represe what is best in athletics on this side of the ocean-namely, the University element It is felt that if the athletic organisations of the large Universities were in future to aid the American Athletic Union in the management of United States representatives abroad the chance of a recurrence of the late unpleasantness would be minimis-

ed. The suggestion that the Olympic Games should be managed by an international committee instead of by a committee of the country in which they are held, is cordially endorsed here, although there is not the slightest suspicion that the British committee were anything but scrupulously fair in all their dealings.

It was the Mamthon Race, with the alleged helping of Dorando and the disqualifying of Carpenter in the 400 Metres Race, which excited the profound dissatisfaction of the returned athletes, and they have been "kicking" in the American newspapers ever since. Mr James Sullivan, who was officially delegated to represent President Roosevelt and America at the Olympic Games, has endorsed the complaints, and in print has chastised " officials who tried to deny the Americans chance to win on their merits." Mr Sullivan is fairer than some of the athletes, and he expressly says, "It is unjust to criticise the whole British public for the treatment we received."

Now our "kickers" have been rather rudely shocked by the members of the American Rifle Team, who, on their return home, declared that they were splendidly treated by everybody at Bisley; that Britishers are fine sportsmen, and that England is the real home of sport. This will not assist the plea of the Irish-American type of athlete, who professes to hold exactly opposite views.

A report on the French budget for 1908 by the Hon. R. Lister, Councillor to the British Embassy at Paris, has just been published, says Fairplay. For the year provision is made in the budget for £416,000 for shipbuilding bounties and £1,280,000 for-navigation bounties. It is pointed out that the expenditure under the heading "Bounties for the Merchant Navy" has considerably increased since the vote of the original law granting direct bounties for building and navigation (January 29, 1881), the increase being from £480,000 in 1882 to £1,676,000 in 1908. The expenditure entailed by the laws of 1893 and 1902 will, however, gradually decrease after the year 1908, and may be estimated at £1,058,360 for 1909, at £566,400 for 1912; "and at £33,760 for 1917, after which they will disuppear altogether.

the 28th Sept.

The tide table given below has been compiled at the Nautical Almanac Office For SWATOW, SINGAPORE & BANG. in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of an au-Per Pileanulok, at 9 a.m., on Sunday, tomatic tide-recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Tsim Sha Tsui during the years 1887-8-9.

The zero of the table corresponds with Per Joshin Maru, at 9 a.m., on Sunday, the zero of the soundings in the Admiralty Charte which has been found to be 4 feet inches below mean sea level. To obtain the depth of water on the tide gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add feet 4 inches, and on the gauge at Lamont Dock, Aberdeen, add 10 feet 6 inches to the height given in the table.
